Celebrating the 40th Anniversary of Organ Stop

Join us as we celebrate the 40th Anniversary of Organ Stop. Yes, it was forty years ago this September that a couple of crazy newlyweds decided to open their own little organ store. Thinking back to those glory days of the organ industry, we had more guts than brains. There was a competitor on every corner waiting to devour us. Thanks to YOU, our loyal customers and friends, Organ Stop thrived and now we are one of the last full-service organ stores in the country. We have been blessed to represent the finest manufacturers in the organ industry, including Allen, Conn, Hammond, Kawai and Lowrey. We hope you will help us celebrate our organ anniversary with two of our favorite organists, Jim Vogelman and Russ Peck.

Cheryl & Wayne

Jim Vogelman

Jim gives thrilling, memorable performances around the world. His music reflects not only an amazing technique, but his considerable skills in composition and arranging. Beginning his career at age nine, recognition and demand for his exceptional talent as an arranger and performer in the digital medium has spread throughout the U.S. and in Europe, from the Walt Disney Studios in Florida to red carpet events in Los Angeles and organ festivals worldwide. As Manager and Musical Director of the internationally famous The Ink Spots, Jim is honored to be associated with these Living Legends of American Music. He travels extensively as a staff artist for Lowrey. Don't miss his amazing concert and workshop.

Russ Peck

Russ Peck is the official theatre organist for the San Diego Symphony and House Organist at the Balboa Theatre. He appears often on Sundays at Spreckels Organ Pavilion and also presents silent film shows for the Theatre Organ Society of San Diego. Russ has never missed a year of entertaining our guests at the annual Organ Stop Gala. For forty years we have enjoyed his rhythmic dance music and his genuine friendship.
